Question 1

Why does Amanda retreat into imagined worlds?

Answer:

She is repeatedly corrected and instructed, so fantasy gives her a private space where she feels free and in control. Her imagination expresses a wish for independence.

Question 2

What contrast does the poem create between the speaker and Amanda?

Answer:

The speaker lists rules and worries about manners, while Amanda imagines a quiet, self-directed life. Their contrast reveals a gap between adult expectations and a child's need for space.

Question 3

What might adults learn from this poem?

Answer:

Guidance is more effective when balanced with listening and trust. Constant commands can make a child withdraw instead of helping them develop responsibility.
