

30 CHAPTERWISE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Social Science (087) | CBSE 2026-27

Gender, Religion and Caste

Political Science | Board-examinable

30 original revision questions with answers: short-answer, competency, assertion-reason and long-answer practice. Set is based on the current syllabus and official question-paper style; it is not a prediction or an official CBSE paper.

Question 1

How can gender division influence political participation?

Answer:

Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Political measures such as reservation in local bodies can widen participation, though equality also requires changes in everyday attitudes.

Question 2

When can a religious difference become communalism?

Answer:

It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Secular democracy protects equal citizenship across faiths.

Question 3

How can caste shape politics, and how can politics affect caste?

Answer:

Caste can influence voting and access to representation. At the same time, political competition can bring groups together around shared demands and weaken old hierarchies, though it may also reinforce caste identities.

Question 4

What is the central idea or skill tested in Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

The central focus is: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. This is the starting point for a strong answer from this chapter.

Question 5

Write two relevant points for a short answer based on Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

First point: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Second point: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Link the two points clearly instead of listing them without explanation.

Question 6

How does the first key idea in Gender, Religion and Caste lead to an important result or conclusion?

Answer:

Begin with the key idea: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Then connect it to the result: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Gender, Religion and Caste - Continued

Question 7

What evidence, calculation, incident or concept best supports the first main idea in Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Use this supporting detail: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Political measures such as reservation in local bodies can widen participation, though equality also requires changes in everyday attitudes. The relevant detail should be stated before giving the final conclusion.

Question 8

Explain the importance of the second major idea in Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Secular democracy protects equal citizenship across faiths. Its importance lies in showing how the chapter develops the topic beyond a simple fact or definition.

Question 9

What common mistake should a student avoid while answering a question from Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Do not give only a conclusion. Explain the reasoning with a correct detail, such as: Caste can influence voting and access to representation.

Question 10

Compare the first and second important ideas in Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

The first idea is: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. The second idea is: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. A complete comparison states both the difference and the connection between them.

Question 11

Show a cause-and-effect link from Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

Cause or starting point: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Effect or outcome: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Use connecting words such as 'therefore', 'as a result', or 'thus'.

Question 12

What is the most useful sequence for explaining the main content of Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

A clear sequence is: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Next, It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Finally, Caste can influence voting and access to representation.

Gender, Religion and Caste - Continued

Question 13

Give a 40-50 word answer outline for an important question from Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

Start with the direct answer: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Add one supporting point: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. End with the outcome or message: Caste can influence voting and access to representation.

Question 14

How should you support an answer from Gender, Religion and Caste with a relevant example or fact?

Answer:

Use a precise example or explanation: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. State the fact, then explain its significance rather than leaving it as a name or date alone.

Question 15

How can an examiner see that you understand, rather than memorise, Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Connect the idea to its reason or result. For instance: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Then explain why this point matters in the chapter's context.

Question 16

State one inference that can be drawn from the main situation or concept in Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

A sound inference is that caste can influence voting and access to representation. This inference must be supported by a relevant point from the chapter.

Question 17

Frame a short competency-based response using the first two ideas in Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

Apply the concept by first stating: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Then justify the response with: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Question 18

What would make an answer from Gender, Religion and Caste incomplete?

Answer:

An answer is incomplete if it omits the explanation or final implication. Include both: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Also add: Caste can influence voting and access to representation.

Gender, Religion and Caste - Continued

Question 19

Prepare an Assertion-Reason style explanation based on Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

Assertion: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Reason: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Check whether the reason actually explains the assertion before choosing an option.

Question 20

How should you justify an answer from Gender, Religion and Caste in two clear steps?

Answer:

Step 1: state the concept or event - Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Step 2: support it with the explanation or result - It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Question 21

What answer structure is suitable for a 3-mark question from Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Use three connected points: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Caste can influence voting and access to representation. Keep the points specific and write them in a logical order.

Question 22

What answer structure is suitable for a 5-mark question from Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Give an introduction, develop these key points - Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. - and close with: Caste can influence voting and access to representation. Add a diagram, equation, example, or textual reference where relevant.

Question 23

How can the ideas in Gender, Religion and Caste be applied to a new situation or case study?

Answer:

Identify the relevant principle first: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Then use the chapter's reasoning to explain the case: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Gender, Religion and Caste - Continued

Question 24

Which detail from Gender, Religion and Caste is most likely to earn an extra mark when explained correctly?

Answer:

A useful detail is: Caste can influence voting and access to representation. Explain it in context instead of using it as an isolated statement.

Question 25

Write a brief concluding statement for an answer on Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

A suitable conclusion is: Caste can influence voting and access to representation. This conclusion should follow naturally from the explanation rather than introduce a new point.

Question 26

Make a three-point revision note for Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

1. Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. 2. It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. 3. Caste can influence voting and access to representation. Revise these points with the chapter's examples, terms, and practice questions.

Question 27

How would you self-check an answer from Gender, Religion and Caste before submitting it?

Answer:

Check that you have answered the exact question, used the key idea - Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. - and supported it with a reason, example, calculation, or outcome such as: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Question 28

Why does Gender, Religion and Caste remain important for revision?

Answer:

It combines factual recall with explanation and application. The main takeaways are: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Caste can influence voting and access to representation.

Question 29

Create a final 60-80 word answer plan for a long question from Gender, Religion and Caste.

Answer:

Opening: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. Development: It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power. Conclusion: Caste can influence voting and access to representation. Use complete sentences and include all required evidence, steps, or references.

Gender, Religion and Caste - Continued

Question 30

What is one last-minute revision question you should ask yourself about Gender, Religion and Caste?

Answer:

Ask: 'Can I explain why this is true or important?' A correct self-answer should include: Unequal social expectations can limit women's education, work, and representation. and It becomes communalism when one religion is treated as a political identity whose interests are assumed to oppose others, often to gain power.

Sources: CBSE Social Science curriculum 2026-27; CBSE Class X sample papers and marking schemes 2026-27; NCERT textbooks.

ONE SHOT MASTERY