

30 CHAPTERWISE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Social Science (087) | CBSE 2026-27

Lifelines of National Economy

Geography | Board exam assesses map pointing only; other chapter content is interdisciplinary project/internal assessment

30 original revision questions with answers: short-answer, competency, assertion-reason and long-answer practice. Set is based on the current syllabus and official question-paper style; it is not a prediction or an official CBSE paper.

Question 1

Why are transport and communication called lifelines of a national economy?

Answer:

They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Reliable links move goods and information, support trade and services, and help regions participate in national development.

Question 2

How do roadways and railways complement one another?

Answer:

Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Together they connect local areas to major corridors.

Question 3

Name two ports from the prescribed map list on each coast of India.

Answer:

West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. East coast examples: Chennai and Visakhapatnam. On the board map, practise every prescribed port and airport label, not only these examples.

Question 4

What is the central idea or skill tested in Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

The central focus is: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. This is the starting point for a strong answer from this chapter.

Question 5

Write two relevant points for a short answer based on Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

First point: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Second point: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Link the two points clearly instead of listing them without explanation.

Question 6

How does the first key idea in Lifelines of National Economy lead to an important result or conclusion?

Answer:

Begin with the key idea: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Then connect it to the result: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Lifelines of National Economy - Continued

Question 7

What evidence, calculation, incident or concept best supports the first main idea in Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Use this supporting detail: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Reliable links move goods and information, support trade and services, and help regions participate in national development. The relevant detail should be stated before giving the final conclusion.

Question 8

Explain the importance of the second major idea in Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Together they connect local areas to major corridors. Its importance lies in showing how the chapter develops the topic beyond a simple fact or definition.

Question 9

What common mistake should a student avoid while answering a question from Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Do not give only a conclusion. Explain the reasoning with a correct detail, such as: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai.

Question 10

Compare the first and second important ideas in Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

The first idea is: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. The second idea is: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. A complete comparison states both the difference and the connection between them.

Question 11

Show a cause-and-effect link from Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Cause or starting point: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Effect or outcome: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Use connecting words such as 'therefore', 'as a result', or 'thus'.

Question 12

What is the most useful sequence for explaining the main content of Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

A clear sequence is: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Next, Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Finally, West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai.

Lifelines of National Economy - Continued

Question 13

Give a 40-50 word answer outline for an important question from Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Start with the direct answer: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Add one supporting point: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. End with the outcome or message: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai.

Question 14

How should you support an answer from Lifelines of National Economy with a relevant example or fact?

Answer:

Use a precise example or explanation: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. State the fact, then explain its significance rather than leaving it as a name or date alone.

Question 15

How can an examiner see that you understand, rather than memorise, Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Connect the idea to its reason or result. For instance: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Then explain why this point matters in the chapter's context.

Question 16

State one inference that can be drawn from the main situation or concept in Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

A sound inference is that west coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. This inference must be supported by a relevant point from the chapter.

Question 17

Frame a short competency-based response using the first two ideas in Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Apply the concept by first stating: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Then justify the response with: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Question 18

What would make an answer from Lifelines of National Economy incomplete?

Answer:

An answer is incomplete if it omits the explanation or final implication. Include both: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Also add: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai.

Lifelines of National Economy - Continued

Question 19

Prepare an Assertion-Reason style explanation based on Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Assertion: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Reason: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Check whether the reason actually explains the assertion before choosing an option.

Question 20

How should you justify an answer from Lifelines of National Economy in two clear steps?

Answer:

Step 1: state the concept or event - They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Step 2: support it with the explanation or result - Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Question 21

What answer structure is suitable for a 3-mark question from Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Use three connected points: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. Keep the points specific and write them in a logical order.

Question 22

What answer structure is suitable for a 5-mark question from Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Give an introduction, develop these key points - They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. - and close with: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. Add a diagram, equation, example, or textual reference where relevant.

Question 23

How can the ideas in Lifelines of National Economy be applied to a new situation or case study?

Answer:

Identify the relevant principle first: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Then use the chapter's reasoning to explain the case: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Question 24

Which detail from Lifelines of National Economy is most likely to earn an extra mark when explained correctly?

Answer:

A useful detail is: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. Explain it in context instead of using it as an isolated statement.

Lifelines of National Economy - Continued

Question 25

Write a brief concluding statement for an answer on Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

A suitable conclusion is: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. This conclusion should follow naturally from the explanation rather than introduce a new point.

Question 26

Make a three-point revision note for Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

1. They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. 2. Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. 3. West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. Revise these points with the chapter's examples, terms, and practice questions.

Question 27

How would you self-check an answer from Lifelines of National Economy before submitting it?

Answer:

Check that you have answered the exact question, used the key idea - They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. - and supported it with a reason, example, calculation, or outcome such as: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Question 28

Why does Lifelines of National Economy remain important for revision?

Answer:

It combines factual recall with explanation and application. The main takeaways are: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai.

Question 29

Create a final 60-80 word answer plan for a long question from Lifelines of National Economy.

Answer:

Opening: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. Development: Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes. Conclusion: West coast examples: Kandla and Mumbai. Use complete sentences and include all required evidence, steps, or references.

Lifelines of National Economy - Continued

Question 30

What is one last-minute revision question you should ask yourself about Lifelines of National Economy?

Answer:

Ask: 'Can I explain why this is true or important?' A correct self-answer should include: They connect producers, markets, workers, and consumers. and Roads provide flexible door-to-door and short-distance links; railways move large passenger and freight volumes efficiently over longer land routes.

Sources: CBSE Social Science curriculum 2026-27; CBSE Class X sample papers and marking schemes 2026-27; NCERT textbooks.

ONE SHOT MASTERY